TUTT'S LIVER PILLS.

The Cape Fear River, cabbage seed, if planted, would come up as the long collar; and, although a few of the more enterprising agriculturists grow small fields of wheat, it was not generally considered worth cultivation.

Now from Fayetteville are yearly shipped to Northern markets great quantities of lettuce, radishes, asparagus, peas, beans, onions, cabbage, cucumbers early corn, watermelons, muskmelons, dewberries, strawberries, raspberries, grapes, a few peaches and pears. This great area of territory is divided up among scores of producers, of whom it may be interesting to note especially three or four of the leading truckers.

At the head stand "Myrtle Hill Farms," the property of a wealthy Northern woman, Mrs. Cochran, who, visiting here some years ago, was very much pleased with the place and surroundings, and bought "Myrtle Hill," the family homestead of Judge Robert Strang, grandfather of Rev. Dr. Robert Strang, pastor of an Episcopal Church in Richmond, and the abode of his children after him.

Mrs. Cochran purchased a great deal of other land, running around Tokay Vineyard, and extending to the banks of the Cape Fear River. It is a very fertile tract, and very great quantities of truck to market, but they are noted for specialties, such as asparagus, onions and lettuce, and are distinguished for the care with which their fruits and vegetables are handled and packed. The leading crop is strawberries; small grain, corn and hay are raised, but are reserved for the farm stock. The plantation is equipped in all the appliances for expediting and saving labor and time—such as a tractor, plowing, and the best machinery, and good horses and mules, with a fine breed of milk cows—all under the superintendence of Mr. S. H. Strang, general manager. Ample means and good taste have rendered Myrtle Hill very beautiful, with winding roads over artistic bridges through the estate, and it is a great resort for riding parties in the summer afternoons and evenings.

Next to the Zellore farms, owned by Messrs. Pittell, who came from Maryland some years ago, and who, by their fine methods of work, have done much to educate the community in extensive farming. It is significant that they chose the light, loamy soil, and the western part of the county for their operations. They are large producers of dewberries, and their great area devoted to this fruit is one of the show places of this section. Besides being extensive shippers, they are truckers, and have a fine line of trucks being extensive shippers. Fayetteville and the surrounding factory villages.

This article would be incomplete without mention of the industry of grape growing. Four miles north of Fayetteville is Tokay vineyard, one of the largest east of the Rocky Mountains, the property of Hon. W. J. Green, ex-member of Congress, who has recently leased it for a term of years to Messrs. Garrett, of Weldon, N. C. Tokay was planted about fifty years ago by the late Henry Garrett, and the late W. T. Horne, retired merchants, who engaged in it not so much for money as for a recreational occupation, and to vindicate their belief that good, pure wine, as distinguished from the cheap, inferior, and brandy, was promotive of temperance.

GAVETY IN CHARLOTTE

Gard Clubs, Disbanded During Lent, Have Revived.

THE ELKS' GERMAN CLUB

One of the Most Delightful Entertainments Given Last Week Was the Afternoon Tea at Residence of Capt. and Mrs. W. W. Forsyth.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 12.—The first post-Lent week has been a gay one in amusements and in social matters. The various card clubs, which were disbanded during Lent, have been revived.

Mrs. Richard B. Buebee gave a euchre party Thursday evening, complimentary to Mrs. Walter W. Watt. One of the most delightful entertainments given this week was the afternoon tea which was given at the residence of Captain and Mrs. W. W. Forsyth last Wednesday. St. Anne's Guild of the Episcopal Church had the affair in charge and appropriated for the occasion all of the beautiful draperies and souvenirs gathered by Captain and Mrs. Forsyth during their residence in the far East. It was a Chinese tea, and all the friends of the guild were invited. A special sale of fancy work took place. A great many pretty things were made by the members of the guild during Lent, and were disposed of at a moderate price.

One of Charlotte's most cultured audiences greeted the St. Cecilia Choral Society Tuesday night at the Presbyterian College Auditorium. Miss Margaret Morris, of Baltimore, was the soloist of the occasion, and perhaps a more select programme was never heard in Charlotte. The Elks' German Club gave the last dance of the season Friday night. There was a large attendance. Mr. Osmond L. Barringer led the German.

The greatest musical events of the season will be the coming of the Duss Orchestra, starring Madame Nordica and Monsieur Edouard De Reszka, on May 10th. This concert is being advertised all over the State and in South Carolina, and will draw to Charlotte an immense crowd of music lovers.

The St. Elizabeth Guild gave a most delightful tea at the residence of Mrs. John York, in Dilworth, Friday afternoon. Fancy work and candy were sold.

Messdames Mary H. Cobb, Hayes and H. Caldwell, Misses Mary Crowley, Kate, Blanche and Daisy Northey, Susie Williams, Bertha Sugge, and Messrs. George Hayes, John Kidd, Jim Reg and Master Philip Caldwell spent Monday in Belmont to witness the play, "Sir Thomas Moore," which was cleverly presented by the St. Leo Dramatic Club of the Belmont College.

The Critter Book Club was pleasantly entertained by Miss Lydia Nash on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Letta C. Johnson was hostess at a meeting of the Shakespeare Book Club Tuesday evening.

The Thompson Orphanage Guild met with Miss Mary Armand Nash Wednesday afternoon.

Messrs. Katherine Jordan, Margaret Smith, Mary Mayer and Georgia Lowe left Tuesday for Mt. Holly, and will visit Miss Lily Rhyme.

The Saturday Afternoon Club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. R. C. Moore and Miss Clarkson.

The Over the Tea-Cups Club had a pleasant meeting with Mrs. J. B. Myers Tuesday evening.

The Daughters of the American Revolution met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. A. L. Smith.

The Dolly Madison Book Club met with Mrs. Sampson in Dilworth Thursday afternoon.

Dr. J. William Jones delivered a lecture on Thursday evening in the auditorium of the Presbyterian College under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy and the veterans.

Preparations are in progress for the Tour of Nations, which will be quite a novel entertainment. It is to take place on the 21st instant.

Quite a number of Easter egg hunts were planned for Monday, but a heavy rain wet the grass and dampened the prospects of fun. Still the amusement went on in some instances, and the eggs were hidden indoors.

Portsmouth's Easter German.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PORTSMOUTH, VA., April 12.—The Easter German of the Portsmouth Colonial Club occurred Thursday night in Kirt Hall. The hall was decorated with potted plants, bunting and flags. The dancing was led by Mr. James B. Maupin, after which a supper was served in the Hotel Monroe.

Messdames James A. Borum, J. W. S. Butt, W. S. Langhorne, Franklin D. Gill, John C. Woodley, Francis Chadwick and E. P. Bonbright were choristers.

The Naval Post Band furnished music for the occasion. Many out-of-town guests were present.

"Oakland," which for more than a century has been the home of the Nelson and Page families, is situated in the upper end of Hanover county, Va., near Beaver Dam Station. It was here that Dr. Thomas Nelson Page first saw the light of day, and it is still the home of his mother, Mrs. Beley Page, and his brother, Mr. Rowell Page, a prominent lawyer.

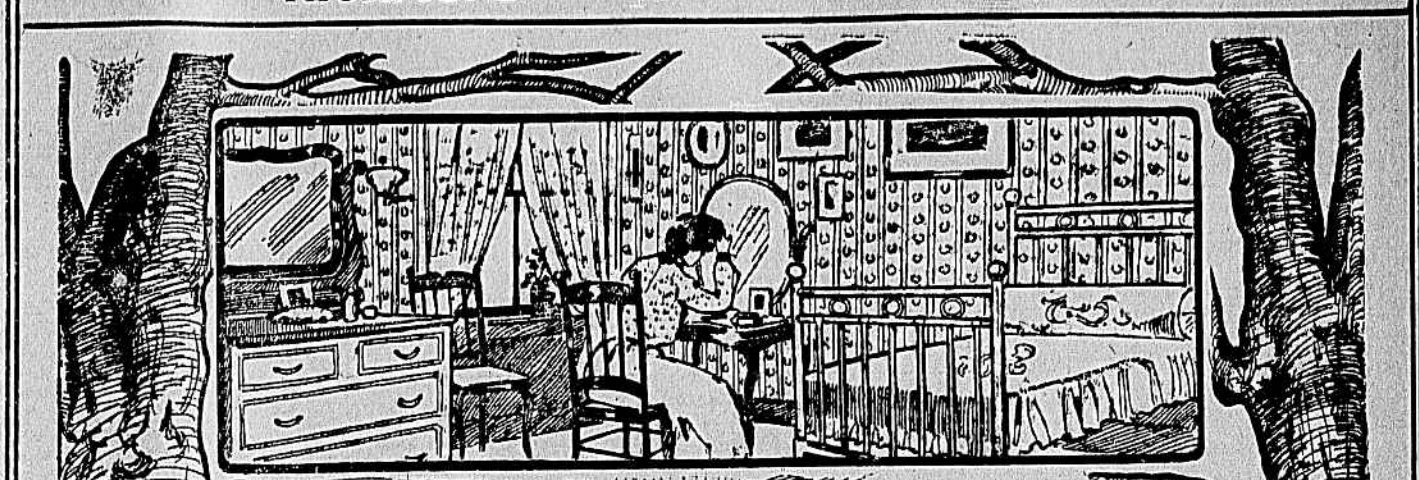

The original building was burned down several years ago, but was immediately replaced by a new structure which is almost identical with the old one, the same foundation and chimneys being used. It is a handsome, well finished dwelling, three stories high, and is built in the old style of architecture, with slanting roof, large chimneys and dormer windows.

The house is fitted with many improvements, and is furnished with water throughout by a hydraulic ram, which forces the water through the building from a nearby spring. In the house is

CREDIT IS A NECESSITY.

Governments, banks, corporations, institutions, all seek credit with privileges of part settlements. Why not the housekeeper with her own institution?

We don't believe for a moment that we grant you a favor in extending "charge" privileges. We appreciate your acceptance of our offer. It casts a mutual confidence and clear understanding over our relations.

When you are doubtful about values, ask candid questions. We are an honest crowd, and we would rather lose a sale by disappointing you with a fact than misrepresentation. The last-named fault would be commercial suicide.

"GLAZEMONT," THE MORRIS HOMESTEAD IN HANOVER.

"Glazemont," the old Morris homestead in upper Hanover county, Va., near Montpelier Postoffice, has been built about seventy-five years. It was constructed by an architect named G. P. Mayo as a residence for the late Edward Morris, Sr., a prominent lawyer of his time. The main building is of brick, is three stories high, and contains eleven large rooms. The residence and farm are at present owned by Dr. Lewis Coleman Morris, of Birmingham, and his sister, Mrs. Lettie Page, wife of Rev. Frank Page, D. D., of Brooklyn. The building and grounds have recently been put in perfect order, neither pains or money being spared in making them
